

Candidates for Governor Plan Final Punches

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A call for Gov. Orval E. Faubus to quit the governor's race has been sounded by Hal Millsap Jr., one of four Faubus opponents in the Democratic primary, as the campaign heads into its final stages.

Four candidates—Faubus, Millsap, Allyn, Gen. Bruce Bennett and Joe C. Hardin—go on television tonight. The fifth candidate, H. B. Williams, takes to radio for his campaigning.

Millsap used TV last night for his plea to Faubus to resign from the race "and remove the stigma, the trademark of dictatorship, the memory of Little Rock, as you made it appear before the world, from our beloved state." Millsap coupled his strongest attack of the campaign against Faubus with an outline of his 10-point platform.

It is too late for a candidate to withdraw and keep his name off the ballot.

Faubus, in Mena yesterday, said his opponents have made only general charges and "haven't got the nerve to attempt to tell you what is bad about my administration." Bennett, at Camden, proposed a teacher security law he said is explained in letters being sent to all teachers.

Millsap's stinging attack on Faubus as the "Benedict Arnold of the South, the negro of Arkansas" was a change from his earlier campaigning. He has several times derided "mud-slinging" and said he was running against all four opponents, not just Faubus. There has been a minimum of quarrelling among the other candidates, with the blasts concentrated on Faubus.

Millsap said that in three terms Faubus has had time enough to do anything he intended to do for the state. He scored Faubus as "a man sworn to uphold our

Kennedy and Harriman to Air Strategy

By G. MILTON KELLY
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy and W. Averell Harriman discussed today a proposal to ask Congress to vote an additional two billion dollars for defense purposes this year as a move to back up a hard foreign policy stand towards the Soviet Union.

Harriman, former governor of New York and onetime ambassador to Moscow, told a news conference in reply to questions there had been discussion of this.

But he said the details would have to come from Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

A reporter asked whether there had been any discussion between Harriman and Kennedy concerning "a two-billion-dollar supplemental appropriation for defense" at the congressional session scheduled to resume Aug. 8.

"Yes, but you will have to get that from him," Harriman replied.

As a diplomat, Harriman was among the first Americans after World War II to foresee some of the troubles that lay ahead in relations with the Soviet Union. He has been a student of foreign policy problems.

As a practical politician — he is a former governor of New York — Harriman presumably also will talk a lot of politics with the Democratic presidential nominee. Kennedy is concerned deeply about factional fights among New York Democrats.

But Kennedy told newsmen Wednesday the talks with Harriman would be mostly about foreign policy.

The senator will receive Saturday from Allen W. Dulles, Central Intelligence Agency director, the first of the secret foreign policy briefings President Eisenhower has authorized for the Republican and Democratic campaign-bearers.

Harriman and two other Kennedy advisers will fly in during the day. Pierre Salinger, the senator's press secretary, said Archibald Cox, Harvard Law School faculty member, and Theodore G. Sorenson, a Washington aide to Kennedy, were coming in to "go over a whole wide gamut" of problems.

This means more rounds of conferences for Kennedy on a work-and-rest vacation at his summer home.

U. S. Plans to Call Every Russian Bluff

By JOHN SCALI
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has embarked on a policy of calling the Soviet Union bluff each time it believes Kremlin leaders are threatening action they never will dare carry out.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter disclosed that tough new line Thursday in blasting Soviet threats to send troops to the violence-racked Congo.

Abandoning his usual diplomatic caution, Herter bluntly assailed as a reckless bluff Moscow's widely advertised claims that it wants to help stamp out what it calls Western imperialism in the new African republic.

Herter pledged that the United States will press ahead with all-out moral and material support for United Nations efforts to end the violence, regardless of Soviet threats.

Responsible diplomatic authorities said today more firm reiterations of this kind can be expected from administration leaders in handling Moscow's virtually unprecedented campaign of threats, protests, insults and propaganda.

This reflects a high-level administration belief that the Soviet threats represent more phony bluster than menace. It is believed that in all of Moscow's out-pull so far, threats have been carefully hedged to sound frightening without committing the Soviet Union to action.

The call-the-bluff policy will carry one step further the administration's determination to fire back tough and fast at Moscow's anti-American propaganda thrusts.

Administration leaders are reported convinced that stern language, backed up by a readiness to act to protect vital interests, offers the best hope of compelling the Kremlin to call off its campaign.

Risks are involved in any such strategy, they acknowledged. But they said there is no alternative. They said mildly worded answers or hesitation may be viewed by the Kremlin as signs of weakness and confusion in a United States seemingly preoccupied with an election campaign.

Top officials are under instruction to be firm but to avoid unnecessary bluster and overly belligerent rejoinders. While slugging it out in the propaganda arena, the administration intends to keep the door ajar for a renewal of businesslike East-West negotiations to ease outstanding international disputes.

In talking to newsmen Thursday Herter attacked Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's remarks about the Congo. Herter said that while the rest of the United Nations is seeking to calm the disorders, Khrushchev is deliberately instigating new violence by his "reckless, irresponsible threats."

Conditions at Girls School Is Deplored

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — H. B. Williams charged today that substandard conditions exist at the Arkansas Girls Industrial School and the Faubus administration shows no interest in making improvements.

In a campaign blast at Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Williams said the administration "has money to promote projects that will get votes, but no money to spend on rehabilitation of teen-aged girls."

The head of the school later gave a version of conditions which differed from that of Williams.

Williams, a candidate for governor against Faubus, said in a statement issued at his Little Rock headquarters that apparently it would take a fire such as the one that killed 21 inmates at the Arkansas Negro Boys Industrial School last year "to needle the present administration into taking action."

He charged conditions at the Collegeville school for delinquent white girls were "shameful" and said girls were crowded two and three in tiny rooms where beds had to be stacked atop each other in the daytime.

Sgt. H. J. Lloyd

A recent graduate with honor from Rangers School, Ft. Benning, Ga., Sgt. First Class Herbert Jack Lloyd, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd of Hope, Ill., 3, has been sent with others of the 42nd Airborne Division, to West Point, N. Y. where he will train cadets.

A 1955 Blovins High graduate where he was voted the most valuable football player his final year, Sgt. Lloyd served two years with the National Guard here before joining the Army. Graduating as Jump Master in Aushburg, Germany in 1956 entitled him to command a platoon of paratroopers. Sgt. Lloyd was commended for outstanding service of superior caliber in handling troops. He has 70 parachute jumps to his credit.

Today, in an abrupt change from his mood of recent days, the Premier offered a land of friendship to Belgium, asserting it was the Belgians who built this country.

At the same time, he demanded immediate withdrawal of Belgian Ambassador Jean van den Bosel, saying his actions and reports had resulted in the sending of Belgian soldiers into the country.

In renouncing action by the Soviet Union, Lumumba said he was motivated by the fact the Security Council resolution is being carried out effectively and particularly by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's refusal to recognize the province of Katanga as a separate state.

Lumumba said he is very happy about the way the situation in the Congo is being stabilized.

He insisted, however, that Belgian soldiers must return to Belgium and their Congo bases, at Kamina and Kikona, must be evacuated.

Sending in Belgian soldiers, he said, was "a flagrant violation" of the Congo's treaty of friendship with Belgium.

But, he added, "We consider the Belgians as our friends."

Lumumba said he will make the trip to New York in a plane furnished by President Kwame.

Congo Premier Thanks UN for Quick Action

By ROBERT N. LINDSAY
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba expressed thanks to the United Nations today for its quick action in the Congo and said there is no longer any need for Soviet military aid.

He spoke at a news conference shortly before his scheduled departure for conferences at the United Nations in New York. He was commenting specifically on adoption of a Security Council resolution urging Belgium to speed up withdrawal of its soldiers from the Congo.

Lumumba for days has been insisting that unless Belgians quit the country he would ask that Soviet soldiers be sent in.

Today, in an abrupt change from his mood of recent days, the Premier offered a land of friendship to Belgium, asserting it was the Belgians who built this country.

At the same time, he demanded immediate withdrawal of Belgian Ambassador Jean van den Bosel, saying his actions and reports had resulted in the sending of Belgian soldiers into the country.

Red Diplomat Expelled by U. S. as Spy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today ordered the immediate expulsion of a Soviet diplomat, Peter Y. Izhev, on the grounds he was a spy collecting intelligence data, including aerial photographs.

The State Department said Izhev, a Soviet Embassy third secretary, "flagrantly abused" his diplomatic status by engaging in espionage activity.

Izhev paid an American commercial photographer, the department said, more than $1,000 for aerial photographs of American cities.

Informed authorities reported Izhev carried out some of his intelligence work while Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev was in the United States on a goodwill visit last September.

A second Soviet diplomat, Cmdr. Vladimir S. Glinka, was involved in the same kind of intelligence activity, the department said.

Glinka's role in setting up the aerial photography apparently came to light after he had already left the Embassy to return to Moscow. He was an assistant naval attaché.

J. W. Seymour Critically Hurt in Wreck

J. W. Seymour, 71, of near Fulton, was critically injured last night when his auto ran off the road and hit a tree near his home. He suffered a broken hip and a fracture skull.

According to State Policemen Ward and Pankey, Mr. Seymour told them a pickup truck turned around at his home which is on a dead-end road. He told the officers he got into his car and chased the truck when the driver failed to identify himself. Heavy dust caused Mr. Seymour to run off the road, the officers said.

Mr. Seymour was brought to a local hospital by an Oakcrest ambulance and was reportedly slated to be removed to a Little Rock hospital today.

Understanding Mother Deplores Husband's Tyranny

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen Worden Erskine: I am a very upset mother 36 years old. My daughter was 17 last month. I never had any trouble with her. My troubles are with her father. He has turned her love for him into hate. When she goes to a dance he insists she be in by ten. He won't let her go to a drive-in show. He says kids don't go to see the show. If a boy calls more than once he won't speak, just sits around with a long face. He doesn't speak to her or me for days after. When I talk to him he gets mad and says our girl will do what he says.

She is our only child. I want her to be happy. He says if she marries before she is 21 he will give her nothing—ever. She says if it weren't for me she would do the things he says she does. He is a good husband and has worked at the same job 20 years. My doctor warns me that I'm making a nervous wreck out of myself. But my husband doesn't care. I have thought many times about leaving. I can hardly stand him to touch me any more. I sure hope you can help me. — Mrs. K.

Dear Mrs. K.: A psychologist once said that a man's nature is a good deal like an iceberg; all but one-eighth of it is hidden, perhaps even from himself. You happen to be articulate. Your husband obviously is not. Instead of being able to explain why he doesn't want his daughter dating this or that boy, he drives them all out. As I say, his motives are probably unfathomable even to himself. Show your doctor this column and ask him to have a frank talk with your husband. Psychiatric help might be indicated.

Dear Helen Worden Erskine: I'm a young wife with a wonderful husband and two small children. We rent a suite in a private home. The owner's daughter has a crush on my husband.

Many times you have written that a girl under 14 is too young for dating. I disagree. I was allowed to go on my first date while in the sixth grade. I went to a show with a boy in the seventh. I am now in ninth and have many dates. There are still other girls who are not allowed. I asked my mother. She said it may be because some other girls can't be trusted. My mother has always been able to trust me when it comes to dating and things of that respect. I wish you would be a sort of believer in what you say. Now I am confused. — Sis

Dear Sis: I'm all for girls having fun but we might as well face facts. The average 14-year-old girl is too young and inexperienced to cope with the wolves. She's bound to meet up with J. W. Rifer, Cotton Valley, La.: sooner or later. Her very youth, if nothing else, will attract them.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

constitution and yet trying to start a riot between the races" and charged that the governor had "betrayed the trust that we placed in your hands... sacrificed our Southern tradition for power."

Paulus in 1957 called out National Guardsmen to prevent court-ordered integration of Little Rock Central High School and since then has been a leader of the segregationist and states right group.

Key points of Millsap's platform include a proposal for a single four-year term for governor, a promise to fight against federal entrenchment on states rights and to battle the U.S. Supreme court's "overstepping" of its rights, a plan for a non-partisan tax study and a pledge to promote industrial and agricultural development.

Millsap also proclaimed himself a segregationist, but said he opposes Amendment 62—a local option school closing measure on the November ballot—because it would destroy public schools. He also urged that a one-cent sales tax increase be used for public schools or abolished.

Other points of the platform would double old age welfare payments, work for economy in government, eliminate political office holding and bring Arkansas to "her deserved position among her sister states and in the world."

Paulus, in his Meigs speech, ignored new charges by his opponents. But he attacked each of his foes briefly as he has in most of his speeches around the state.

Paulus also ignored—and declined to comment for newsmen—a spokesman's disavowal of the governor's association with Claude Carpenter, a former Paulus aide now an assistant to Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark). The spokesman, Jonesboro lawyer James McDaniel, Monday night in Pine Bluff dismissed Carpenter as a former "office boy" for Paulus.

Bennett's teacher security proposal would provide for early notice to teachers who are not being rehired and contain a provision for appeal against any unfair dismissal. The law now does not require that the teacher be told why he is not being rehired.

Last night at Camden, Bennett said it is "generally conceded that there will be a runoff and I will be in it." Paulus will be the other man, he said, and he renewed an invitation for joint appearances with the governor.

Bennett listed the campaign issues as preservation of segregation through "the courts, Legislature and other lawful means" creation of a climate favorable for industry, equitable distribution of taxes, assistance for local road programs and creation of job security and retirement plans for employees not now covered.

There are 66 girls, 12 to 28 years old, at the school.

Mrs. Martin said there were two large dormitories and a number of small rooms which contained two beds each.

The 1959 Legislature provided $30,000 for salaries of the superintendent, the home economics teacher and two classroom teachers in the current fiscal year. The appropriation also provided $40,000 for the maintenance and $800 for extra help.

Mrs. Martin said the school had an excellent home economics facility and "a very nice sewing room."

Reports Sharp Rise in Polio

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp rise in polio cases was reported last week, the Public Health Service said today.

There were 95 cases listed, 69 of them paralytic, as compared with 49 cases of which 39 were paralytic in the preceding week which ended July 9.

From Jan. 1 through July 16 there had been 457 paralytic cases reported by the states, compared with 969 at this time in 1959 and 437 in 1958.

Rhode Island with 24 new polio cases, and California and South Carolina with 12 each accounted for one more than half of last week's state total. The paralytic cases in these states totaled 37, also more than half the national count.

Russia to Attack U. S. in Spy Case

By MAX HAREKSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union goes before the U. N. Security Council today with another slashing attack on the United States, charging a "flagrant violation of Soviet borders by American spy planes."

The attack was expected to touch off a major cold war clash with the United States which will reply Monday.

President Eisenhower instructed U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to hit back hard in accordance with Washington's tough new line toward Soviet threats and provocations.

One of the Krombials (top diplomats, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov) was to deliver a detailed, all-noon speech which Soviet sources said would conclude with a demand for condemnation of the United States as an aggressor.

The Soviet complaint to the Council was titled "New aggressive acts by the Air Force of the United States against the Soviet Union, creating a threat to universal peace."

The complaint grew out of the shooting down of a U. S. 1937 reconnaissance plane over the Barents Sea by a Soviet jet fighter on July 1. The Soviet Union charged that the aircraft was over Soviet waters on an espionage mission.

The Russians are holding two of the plane's six crewmen and are expected to try them as spies. The Russians recovered the body of the plane's pilot, and the other three crewmen are missing.

The United States claims the plane was surveying magnetic lines of force in arctic waters for mapping and was shot down over international waters. The State Department said it was never closer than 30 miles to the Soviet shores.

NO REGATTAS LIKE
BAHAMA WORKBOAT
BY WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Editor, Popular Boating
Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

GEORGE TOWN, Baha m a's (UPI)—From the 70,000 square miles of vivid blue-green seas of the Bahama Islands, 50 sailing workboats gathered off George Town for the annual Out Island Regatta.

This is the only event of its kind. It is a series of races for native sailors, men who fish and travel hundreds of miles of these waters under wind power.

The boats, all island built by hand, range from 30-foot sloop rigged fishing smacks down to 10-foot dingy boats that are sculled along with one long oar over the stern.

On the larger boats, crew and passengers eat and sleep on deck, while below will be a cargo of fish, lobsters and conch, vegetables and freight.

The races maintain the wonderfully relaxed and carefree spirit of native sailing. A crew of up to 15—almost the entire male population of a village—may be aboard.

When the turning mark is reached there is a scramble as the loose-footed sail is lifted over the cabin top and the boat comes about on a new tack. On the fore-deck, a boy may be scooping up water and splashing it on the sail to make it set.

Even with the big crew aboard a small craft, these workboats are responsive and the racing is keen.

Rules are kept to a minimum. Course marks must be rounded without striking them. When there is danger of collision, both boats must tack. That's it.

Technicalities are omitted, and both boats and spectators seem to have more fun as a result.

The only sophistication is aboard the spectator fleet.

Yachtsmen from many countries look forward to the pleasant cruise down through the tropic isles of the Exuma chain to this wide, sheltered harbor. Transoms of visiting yachts bear such home ports as Chicago, Boston and San Diego, Calif., and Oslo and New Zealand.

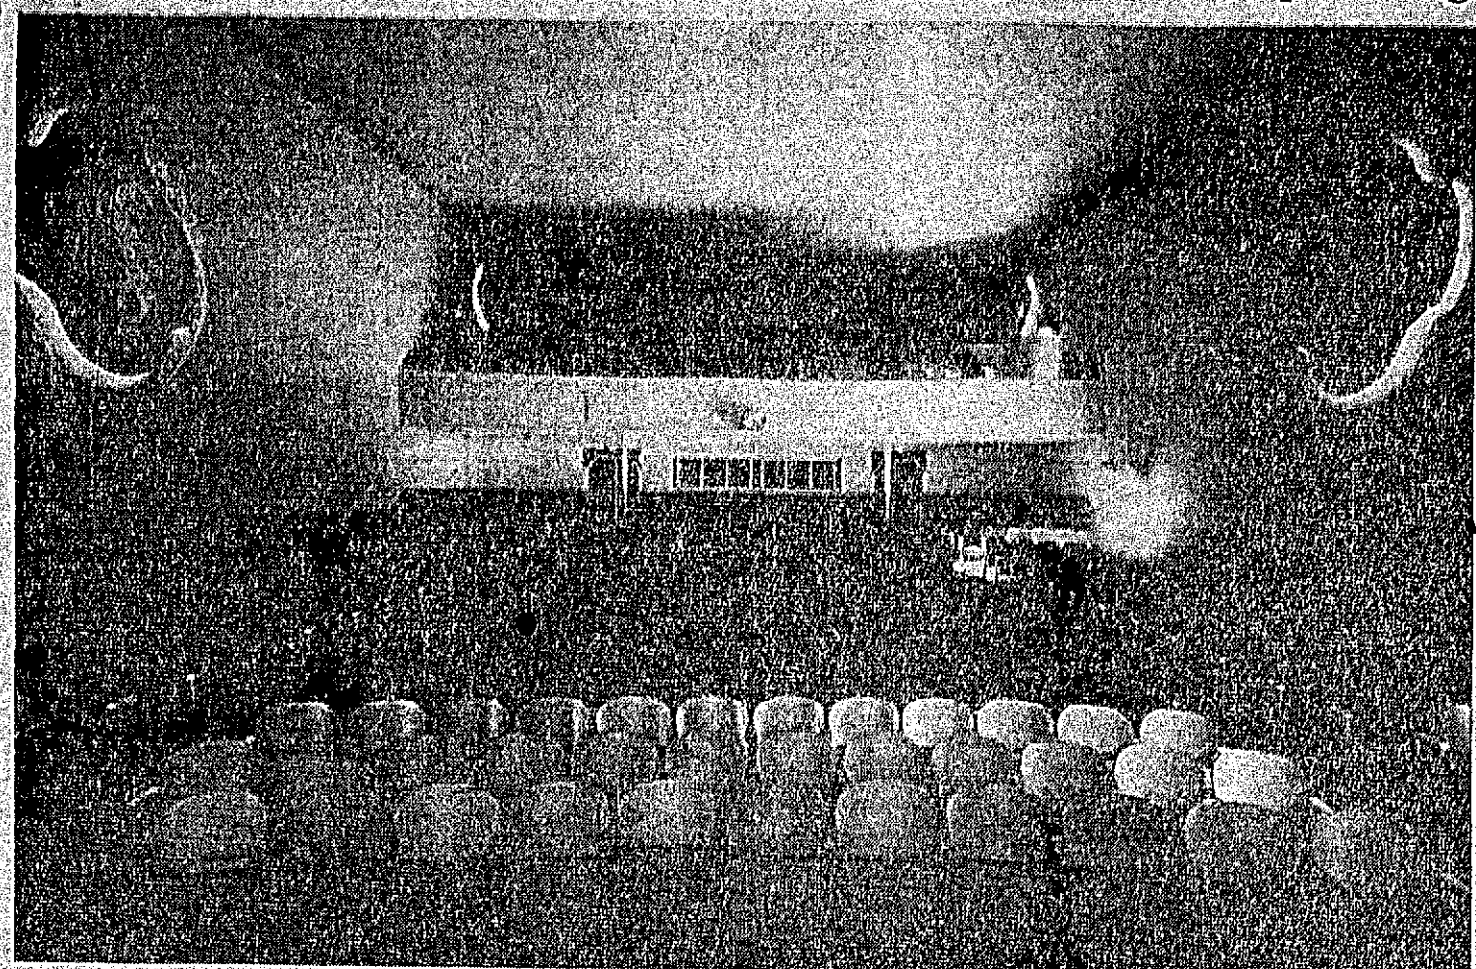

This year saw close competition between the "Mystery J" of Nassau, "Lady Muriel" from Staniel Cay and "Ragged Gal" from Ragged Island.

The latter was a "rule-beater" workboat displaying strong hints that the builders had been influenced by more modern racing.

But tradition won after three days of racing and "Mystery J" headed back north to Nassau with the sailing championship of the islands.

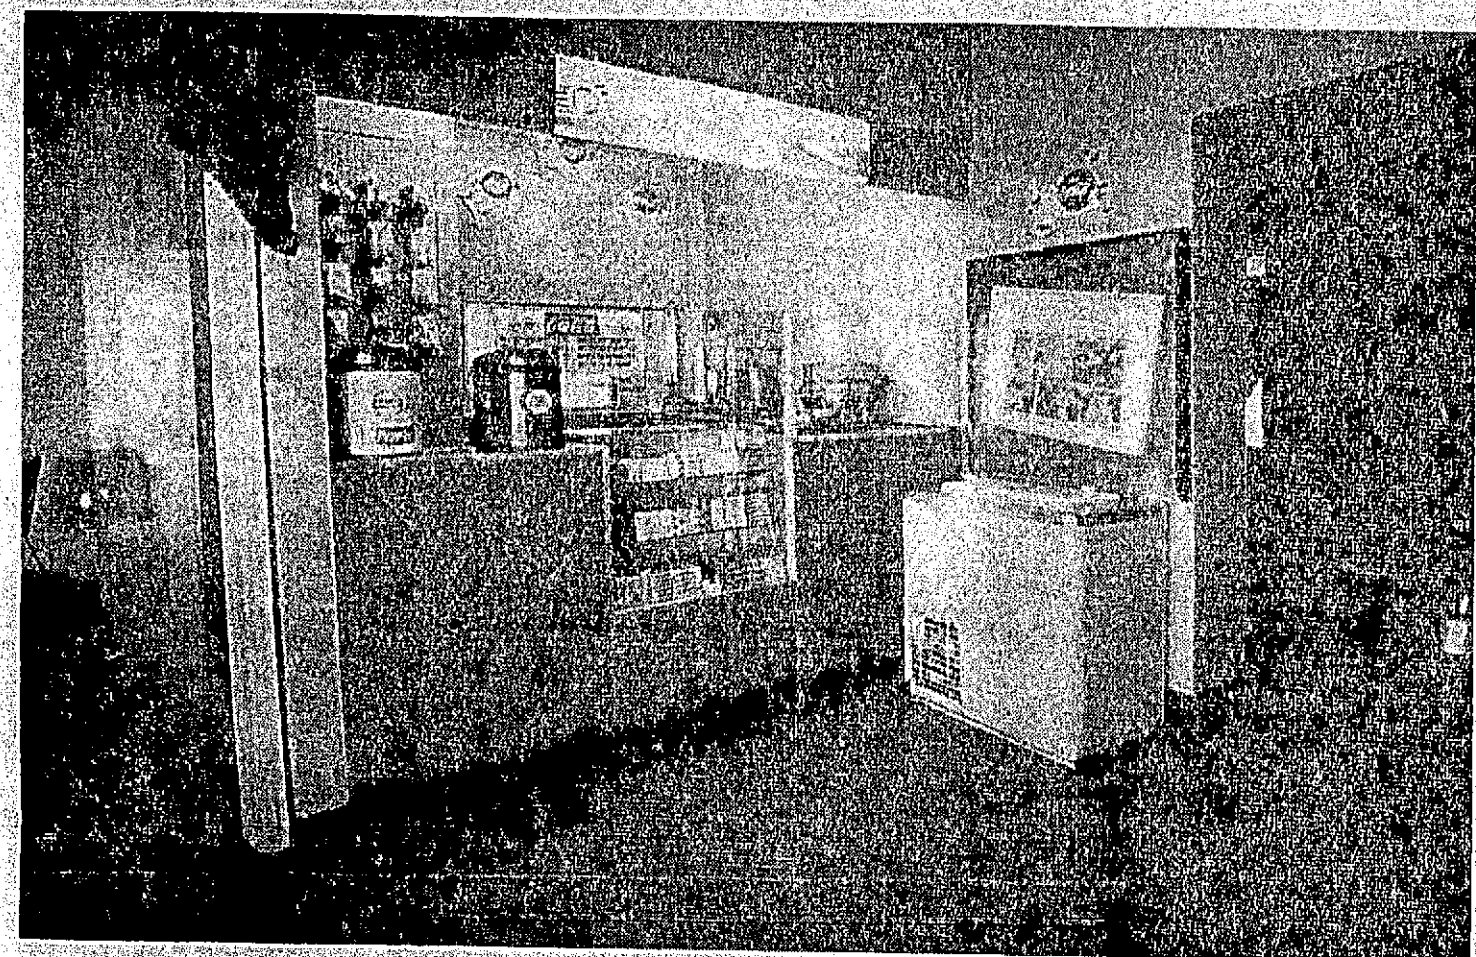

At Staniel Cay, when "Lady Muriel" sailed home with her

Fires Destroy Watersheds in the West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
From British Columbia to Mexico, from the Pacific to the Rockies, hundreds of fires destroyed forests, watersheds, and homes today.

Interior Department officials called the roaring conflagrations the worst in the West in 30 years. They were the worst ever in many areas.

As exhausted men battled the flames in nine states and a Canadian province, urgent calls for help were issued. Response came from as far east as Pennsylvania.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho declared an extreme emergency existed in his state and asked President Eisenhower to recognize Idaho as a major disaster area.

Regional Forester Floyd Iverson of Ogden, Utah said "We think there is a possibility of arson in the Idaho fires and we are investigating." Iverson said the FBI is helping.

Enormous Los Angeles County—the country's largest—declared itself a disaster area, calling the fire outbreak its worst in history. Flames roared on through other wooded areas of California and Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, Washington, Arizona and British Columbia.

With millions of dollars of damage already estimated, the appalling news from most areas was that the fire intensity was increasing steadily.

In Idaho's Boise National Forest, Supervisor Howard Aalskog estimated the toll may reach 20,000 acres. Hot, dry, windy weather was forecast today, and 900 men launched an all-out effort to control one of the state's two biggest fires, about 30 miles east of Boise.

A 3,000-acre fire in western Idaho's Payette National Forest, out of control since Tuesday, raged on unchecked.

The best news from the vicinity came from the Idaho-Oregon border where an enormous blaze was reported controlled late Thursday night after days taking some 20,000 acres of range land.

A 4,000-acre fire on Rattlesnake Mountain cracked to within a mile of Shoshone National Forest's great timberlands west of Cody, Wyo. Supervisor Ed Peterson of the Bureau of Land Man-

Living Cost Takes Jump to New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living climbed one-fifth of one percent in June to its fourth consecutive high, the Labor Department reported today.

Food prices—mainly fresh fruits and pork—contributed virtually all the rise, the department said, but gasoline prices helped provide an upward shove.

The consumer price index reached a level of 125.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This was two points higher than a year ago and, in percentage terms, represented a drop in the buying power of the dollar of more than 1 1/2 cents in the past 12 months.

Some 600,000 workers will receive wage boosts under escalator wage contracts which compensate for climbing living costs.

Novelist Dies in Leap From 12 Floors

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—A prize-winning novelist and professor of American literature at Duke University here died Thursday in a leap from the 12th floor of a hotel.

The body of Dr. Charles A. Benton, 41, native of Springfield, Mass., was found in the street outside the Washington Duke Hotel, recently renamed the Jack Tar Hotel, at 5:10 a. m. Coronor Dr. D. R. Perry ruled the death a suicide.

Penton, who held three degrees including his Ph.D. in American literature from Yale University, was awarded the 20th Century Fox-Doubleday prize for his novel, "You'll Get No Promotion," published at the close of World War II. He served in the Royal Canadian Air Force from 1940-44.

Police said Benton left no note in his room. The professor who taught at Yale for 10 years before coming to Duke in September 1958, separated from his wife several months ago.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

Rockefeller a Puzzling Republican

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The most puzzling Republican of 1960 is still New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He dropped his bid for the Republican presidential nomination last December because, he said, the party bosses didn't want him. Apparently they still don't, but a few weeks ago he edged back into the picture by saying he's available.

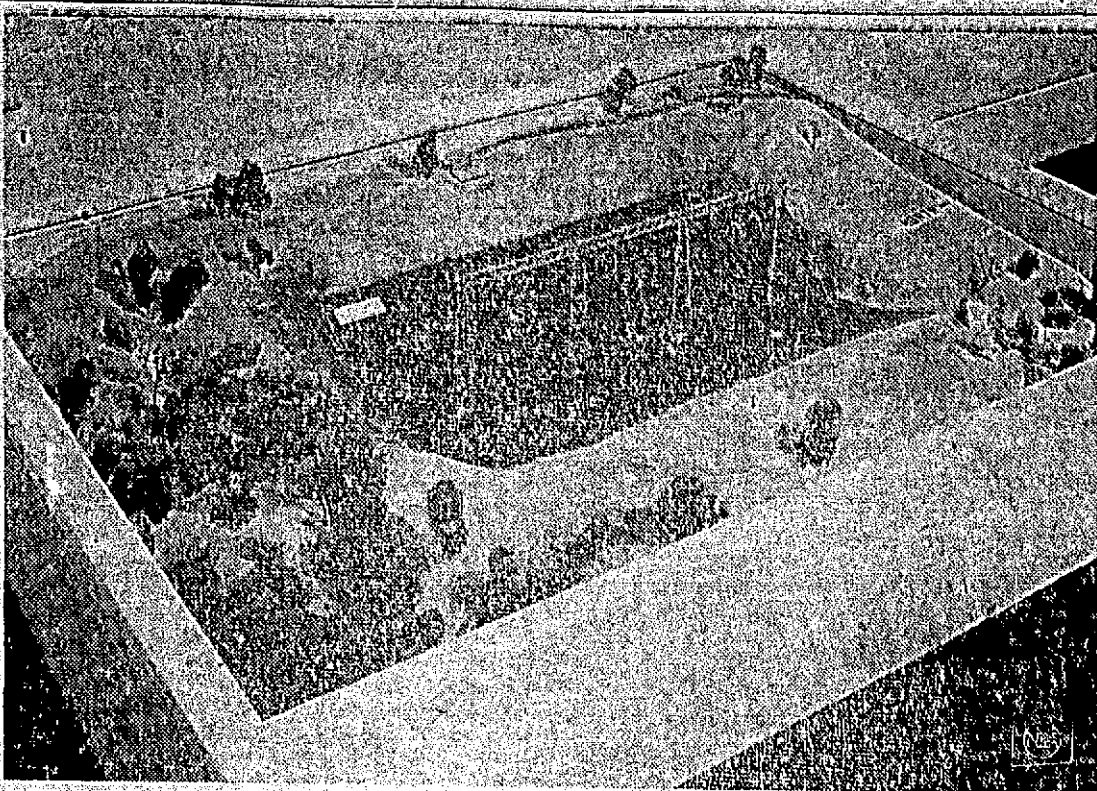

While he's willing to be drafted for the ticket's No. 1 spot, which he says he feels sure he won't get, he says positively and absolutely he will not accept the vice presidential nomination, which might be offered him.

When he expressed his liberal views before the party's Platform Committee in Chicago this week, he got mild applause. But there was an ovation for Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, spokesman for the party's extreme right wing.

Rockefeller said he will campaign actively for the party and the ticket. But at the same time he said he may publicly disagree with official party doctrine during the campaign.

At a time when Republicans seem to yearn for unity, he has been a constant irritant by criticizing both the Eisenhower administration and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who seems a sure shot for the presidential nomination.

Yet in Chicago this week some observers thought they detected

IT'LL BE A LOT BIGGER THAN THIS—Box contains a scale model of a radio telescope which will be the biggest in the world when it's built this fall in Danville, Ill. The University of Illinois will construct and operate the telescope under the sponsorship of the Office of Naval Research. The telescope will cover a 5 1/2-acre natural valley. Its 160,000 square feet of receiving area will be covered with an asphalt liner and a wire-mesh reflecting surface. Four wooden towers 165 feet tall will carry 300 feed elements to the big "ear."

some softening in his differences with the administration and Nixon which would seem to be necessary if he's going to campaign for the ticket at all.

Whether this is so—and, if it is, whether Rockefeller is seeking some kind of reconciliation with the more conservative elements of the party—still isn't clear. But one thing seems to be obvious: In the November elections the difference between a national Republican victory or defeat may be the difference between carrying New York or losing it. The party

Nevertheless, the party bosses have shown few signs of enthusiasm for the governor, at least to the point of buying him the presidential nomination. He has been a goad to the party, perhaps an embarrassment, with his proposals and his criticisms. His only purpose may have been to have a liberalizing effect. Or perhaps he was thinking ahead.

If he's not on this year's ticket

Hatfield Is Selected by Mr. Nixon

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon today picked youthful Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon to place Nixon's name before next week's GOP convention as a presidential candidate.

In announcing this, Robert Finch, Nixon's administrative assistant, told a news conference the choice of a vice presidential running mate for Nixon is "still a wide-open proposition."

Previously GOP National Chairman Thurlston B. Morton had said that if a platform is adopted that is mutually acceptable to Nixon and to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, it might possibly act as a catalytic agent to bring together a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket.

But both Morton and Finch said they are taking Rockefeller's word for it that he would not accept a second-place nomination. Rockefeller has said he is available for (top) place on the ticket if a draft develops but doesn't expect it.

Finch said, however, that Nixon is not closing the door to Rockefeller as a possible running mate.

Much the same word came from Herbert Klein, Nixon's press aide. Robert McMonis, Rockefeller's press secretary, was asked about the renewed discussion of the governor as a vice-presidential possibility. He replied by reiterating that Rockefeller would not consider

Irregularities in Voting Studied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—U.S. Atty. Osro Cobb said today that a group of Hazen residents conferred with him earlier this week about possible irregularities in 1958 voting and conditions surrounding the approaching primary election.

Cobb said no evidence was submitted that anyone had been denied the right to vote in 1958.

He did not identify the persons who visited him and gave no further details of the conference.

Ellis Adams, a candidate for the Prairie County Democratic Committee, has filed suit at Hazen to enjoin four Hazen residents from serving as election officials next Tuesday.

He contends that two of the four are employees of his opponent and that the other two hold public positions and are not eligible to serve.

By agreement a hearing on the suit will be held at Little Rock tomorrow.

U. S. to Crack Down on Spy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is reported getting ready to crack down on another Soviet Embassy diplomat on charges he is a spy.

Informed authorities reported that the State Department within a few days will demand that Peter Y. Ezhov, third secretary, leave the country.

The Justice Department is reported to have evidence that Ezhov, and another Soviet diplomat who has already left, sought to collect intelligence data while ostensibly serving as diplomats.

Details of their reported espionage activities were not disclosed. Ezhov, 39, has been in Washington since June 1959.

The General Assembly of 1959 determined that "Ark-in-saw" was the proper pronunciation of the state's name.

Quick Draw Leaves a Trusty Dead

GOULD, Ark. (AP)—A game of "quick draw" with pistols resulted in the death of a Negro trusty yesterday.

Prison officials said today they would seek a manslaughter charge against another trusty.

Robert Lee Webster, 23, was shot fatally. He was serving a 12-year term from Chicot County for burglary and grand larceny.

Prison Supt. Lee Henslee identified the other trusty as Clyde Tate, Negro, who had been sentenced to 10 years on similar charges in Miller County.

Henslee said the shooting occurred as the two men prepared to go on guard duty. Tate's pistol discharged accidentally as he drew it.

Henslee said trusties had been warned against playing "quick draw."

"The game is a violation of prison rules," Henslee said.

"For this reason," he added, "we will prosecute Tate even though the death was obviously accidental."

Contract Talks Are Broken Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Contract talks between the General Electric Co. and the International Union of Electrical Workers were broken off abruptly today, the company said, asserting that James B. Carey, IUE president, had become "abusive and obstructive in negotiations on employment security."

A company spokesman said the meeting in the company's office ended when "management representatives were forced to leave the room rather than allow Mr. Carey to continue an outburst of obscene language which he injected in negotiations on employment security."

COUPLE OF OLD STOGIES—Jimmy Dykes, left, the venerable manager of the Detroit Tigers, matches puffs with Red Auerbach, the stormy pilot of the Boston Celtics.

WORRIED, PERCY?—Guinea pig Percy squals on a pillow while three-year-old Nina Sauro has a go at examining him with a stethoscope in Franklin Park, N.J. Percy evidently thinks it's a megaphone—guinea pig sized.

Miffed by Footprints

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Charlie Chaplin Jr. is miffed because his famous father's name isn't engraved in the cement of Hollywood's sidewalks. So he brought suit in Los Angeles Superior Court Thursday to force the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and the Hollywood Improvement Assn. to make such a record.

Young Chaplin charges that the groups "arbitrarily and with malice, prejudice and bias" decided not to include his father's name. He termed the older Chaplin's career "a milestone in the history of picture making." The celebrated comedian and his family now reside in Switzerland.

To Keep Presidency

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Gen. Fuad Chehab has yielded to pleas to stay on as president to avert a possible outbreak of civil strife when a new Parliament takes over next week.

Chehab, a popular career soldier who stands above partisan politics, submitted his resignation as President Wednesday, saying he felt his job was finished. Eight hours later he changed his mind after 90 of the 99 new deputies signed a petition urging him to remain.

Smith's Homers Leads Pirates Over Dodgers

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Hal Smith is the Babe Ruth of the Los Angeles Coliseum. The Pittsburgh catcher plays screen with Walter O'Malley's handy little gadget in left field like the man who invented the game.

Smith hit two more over the screen Thursday night in Pittsburgh's 4-1 victory over the Dodgers. The pair ran his season total to nine. Six of them have been hit at the Coliseum, four in the last two days.

As a result of Smith's home runs and a five-hit pitching job by Vern Law, who won his 12th, the Pirates again lead Milwaukee by 1 1/2 games.

St. Louis gave the Bucs a helping hand in an afternoon game at Milwaukee where they broke the Braves seven-game winning streak 9-4. A six-run rally in the sixth inning helped Larry Jackson win his 12th.

Philadelphia's Robin Roberts threw a one-hitter blanking San Francisco 3-0. The only hit was an infield single by Felipe Alou two out in the fifth.

Manager Gene Mauch disputed the official scorer's call on the single that robbed Roberts of his first no-hitter. Roberts took the ruling by scorer Jim McGee philosophically.

The single came on a ball hit at third baseman Joe Morgan. Stepping back to field the bounce, Morgan stabbed the ball but fell to the ground. It was scored a base hit.

Bob Anderson pitched the last-place Chicago Cubs to an 8-1 victory over Cincinnati in the other National League game.

There was only one game Thursday in the American League. Detroit built up enough early lead to offset Washington's late home-run power and defeated the Senators 9-5.

Pittsburgh scored two in the third at Los Angeles on Roberto Clemente's single with the bases loaded. Smith hit No. 8 in the fourth and No. 9 in the seventh, both off Johnny Podres.

It was Law's third victory over the Dodgers and his third complete game against them in three starts. The right-hander had gone the route six straight times at the Coliseum since he was knocked out May 1, 1958.

The Cardinals blanked Wednesday night by Warren Spahn, were held to one hit in the first five innings, but they rose up and chased Carl Willey in the big sixth. Bill White's two-run double with the bases loaded opened the gates, Jackson needed help from Lindy McDaniel when the Braves threatened in the seventh.

No Evidence Against Singer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The city attorney says there isn't enough evidence to warrant charging Frank Sinatra with battery for his part in the celebrated fistfight in the Moulin Rouge parking lot.

Edward B. Moran, 21, a car parker at the night club, said Sinatra pushed him around and that a friend of the singer's, John Hopkins, pummeled him with his fists.

Although charges against Sinatra were dropped, City Atty. Roger Arneberg said there was "undisputed evidence" against Hopkins.

He said Hopkins, four manager for entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., would be charged with both battery and disturbing the peace.

Quarterly Oil Allowable Set

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas oil allowable for the next quarter has been set at 85,000 barrels a day by the Arkansas Oil and Gas Commission.

The commission yesterday also established field rules for Hale County and in the Altus Field of Sand in the Dover Field of Pope Franklin County.

CHAPTER XXIII

Artemus, in character, nodded and said, "What's about two fat hombres that look like a form sheet. He walked around to the front of the grandstand, where he strolled up and down. 'I don't know. I ain't just before post time he saw two fat enough, see? But when the enormous men waddle down the boys talk about them they speak aise and take their seats. Their combined weight must have been close to 600 pounds. They wore identical conservative blue suits. 'Porque whispered, 'Louis and gray sombreros with leather bands and silver buckles. Their equipment of chins was fantastic. The Two-Ton Twins. I hear they ain't twins. (His face, topped by their hairless, misshapen dome, was solicitous. 'They take in territory."

"Big wheels, eh?" "It's said," Porque responded. Artemus, as befitted a man of his eminence, strode away abruptly.

ly, Porque peered after him with worried eyes. Artemus bright a program and a form sheet. He walked around to the front of the grandstand, where he strolled up and down. 'I don't know. I ain't just before post time he saw two fat enough, see? But when the enormous men waddle down the boys talk about them they speak aise and take their seats. Their combined weight must have been close to 600 pounds. They wore identical conservative blue suits. 'Porque whispered, 'Louis and gray sombreros with leather bands and silver buckles. Their equipment of chins was fantastic. The Two-Ton Twins. I hear they ain't twins. (His face, topped by their hairless, misshapen dome, was solicitous. 'They take in territory."

turned to study the too board. Of the corner of his eye he saw that the heads of both Baffins were turned toward him and their big, china-blue eyes were fixed upon him with a frozen stare. Artemus continued to ignore them. The two moon faces turned toward each other and Artemus could imagine a silent question in their eyes.

"Mr. Baldwin, isn't it?" asked a Baffin.

He turned cold eyes upon them. "So what?"

"We thought we recognized you," said the other brother.

"I don't recognize you."

"Our purpose was merely to be friendly," the farther Baffin said. They seemed to be mollified by his ineluctable manner.

"We have," said the nearer one, "a horse in the fourth race."

"So," said Artemus, "have five other jaspers."

"We think he will win. Our name is Baffin. Our horse is Go Down."

"He'll lose," said Artemus, with a lowering of the corner of his mouth.

"Do you have to be so offish, Mr. Baldwin? My brother Jason and I have wished to meet you. My name is Louis. We should have a friendly talk."

"What's the bid?" Artemus asked.

"A retainer," said Louis, "of, say, five hundred a week."

"Peenuts," Artemus said scornfully.

"You are an able young man," said Jason unclosely, "with a long life ahead of you. There are opportunities for advancement. You should stabilize your future."

"I hear different," Artemus said. "I hear another firm is doing business. I hear they got you in a sweat. Me, I'm what they call a free agent."

Jason's big, china-blue eyes were narrowed. It was an attempt to make his face appear sinister, but it merely made him look like an overfed baby.

"What," he asked, "do you know about this other firm?"

Artemus took a shot in the dark. "About as much as you do — which is nothing. Things happen you don't savvy. Like for instance, Sweet Lips Chavez. You don't know, but maybe I'm a big wheel in this other firm. I could keep you guessing, but I won't. I shuffle my own cards and deal 'em."

"Nevertheless," said Louis, "you have a high nuisance value."

"So," Artemus said with a thin smile, "you send a pair of rough boys to play with me."

They did not deny their responsibility for Mouse and Burps.

"There were points about that fizzle we don't understand," Jason said.

"Also," Artemus said, "it riles me to have dead Indians stashed in my shower bath."

"With that," Louis said earnestly, "we had nothing to do."

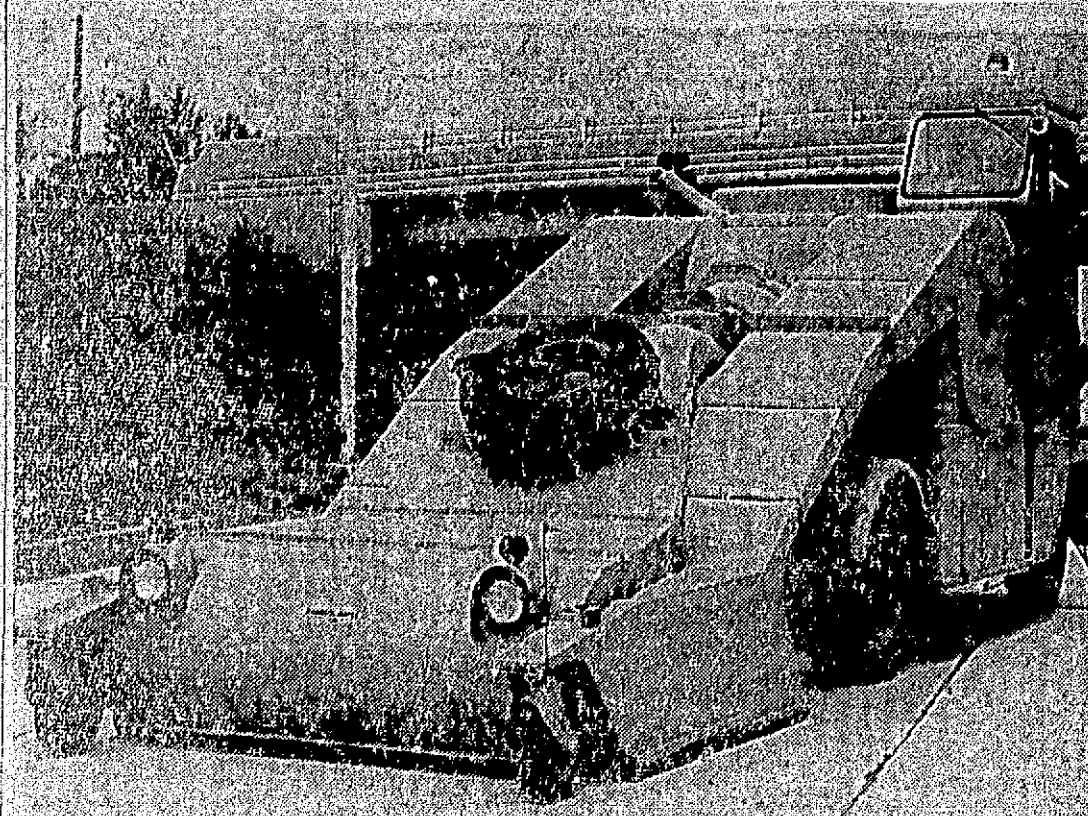

The fourth race was coming up. Artemus stood. "I got a nag in this one," he said.

"We," said Jason, "are sort of unwieldy." He fumbled a roll of bills from his pocket, peeled off a hundred and extended it to Artemus. "Go Down on the nose," he said, "if you'll be so accommodating."

Artemus took the note with a shrug, "easy come, easy go," he said and went down to the windows. He bought tickets on Go Down for the Baffins. He bought a $10 ticket on Thunderbird for himself and then, at another window, bought a two-dollar ticket for Porque the Egg.

Go Down led as they rounded the turn and came into the straightaway. Thunderbird's rider used the whip for the first time, and the gray horse overtook the leader and crossed the finish line a winner by half a length.

"Wise guys," Artemus jeered. Louis tore up his shov of tickets disgustedly. "You were on Thunderbird," he said unhappily. "You get around," Jason said. "Maybe we better"

Fordyce Funeral Director Dies

FORDYCE, Ark. (AP)—Hugh Benton, a prominent businessman and former highway commissioner, died at a hospital today after a long illness. He was 78.

Benton served on the Highway Commission from 1936 to 1940 during the administration of the Gov. Carl E. Bailey.
